Using Categories with Keywords

Decisions, Decisions

Your teacher asks you to write a biography of a famous person. You can choose anyone except someone you know a lot about. You might think about subjects that interest you. For example, if you'd like to take guitar lessons, you could write about a guitarist.

Browsing Categories

Looking at subjects, or categories, may help you decide what kind of person to write about. It can also lead you to a Web page that has the facts you'll need to write the biography. Check each box as you follow the directions below.

- Go to www.becybersmart.org
- Click on the triangle.
- Find the title of this lesson and open the link to Yahoo!igans!®
- Read the categories listed in the center of the Yahoo!igans! home page. Decide which one might help you write an interesting biography.
- Write its title. _____
- Click on it.
- Read the new list of categories that appears. Decide which of these might lead to an interesting biography.
- Write its title. _____
- Click on it.

Adding a Keyword to a Category

You have sorted through categories and found one you like. Now use a keyword to zoom in on Web sites from just that category. Don't forget to check each box as you follow the directions.

- Type the keyword biography into the text box to the left of the Search button.
- Click the button labeled just this category.
- Click Search.

Deciding on a Web Site

Read over the list of Yahoo!igans!® Site Matches. List the titles of three sites that might have the facts you need to write an interesting biography.
